Description

A modernist-style bar service, made in Italy in the 1960s. The set consists of a rectangular metal structure with satin-finish surfaces and chrome details, designed to hold and present drinks in a functional and dramatic manner. The base features circular holders for glasses, while in the center sits a cylindrical, clear blown glass carafe with a spout, original from the period. The service is completed with six matching glasses, featuring a soft, rounded shape, typical of mid-century design.
