Description

COD 11453 Antique French painting from the first half of the 18th century. Oil on canvas artwork depicting a young warrior caught in a moment of surprise. The face is slightly turned, the gaze off-camera, the mouth slightly open, the spear firmly held: all elements that create a moment of psychological suspension, the moment in which thought precedes action. Painting attributed to the great painter Alexis Grimou (1678-1733), known as the French Rembrandt, famous for his intimate painting influenced by the Flemish tradition. The painting displays some of his distinctive features: a soft and psychologically profound style, with warm skin tones and a soft light (the work is not currently accompanied by an expert opinion, but it can be requested upon payment of the relevant additional
