Description

A singing bird box, attributed to Marguera, likely dating from the 1950s or 1960s. When activated, a black-painted bird appears and turns gracefully from left to right while singing a captivating melody. The richly decorated, gilded case showcases exceptional craftsmanship. The particularly detailed decoration on the top exudes an air of luxury and refinement. This piece represents a perfect blend of mechanical artistry and exquisite decoration. A unique opportunity to add a true testament to history and artisanal mastery to your collection. Video of the mechanism in operation:
