Description

An elegant pair of Bouillotte lamps, crafted from gilt brass, each with two arms. Each arm houses a candle-shaped socket, simulating melted wax, in the style of 19th-century lighting fixtures. The central stem is adorned with an oval shade of green sheet metal, adjustable in height via a sliding rod with a knob. The shade is delicately decorated with a gilt trim and a stylized floral frieze, adding a subtle and classic decorative touch. The oval, concave base features refined chasing around its entire perimeter, enhancing the overall decorative and elegant character. It is fitted with an elongated tab on its rear. These lamps, electrified for contemporary use, combine period charm with modern functionality, ideal for creating a cozy atmosphere in a classic or eclectic interior. *Period: Early 20th century.
