Description

Delphin Enjolras, Signed Pastel. A beautiful pastel signed by Delphin Enjolras depicting an elegant woman in nightgown, a love letter in her hand, seated languidly in an armchair under a lamp, with a pretty bouquet of hydrangeas behind her. A simple glance at this pastel immerses you in the characteristic world of Delphin Enjolras (1857-1945), the most emblematic painter of the Belle Époque, aptly nicknamed "the painter of reflections." He is the quintessential painter of bourgeois interiors and exteriors, of soft lighting and luxurious fabrics. He depicts elegant, languid young women, most often going about their daily lives, and invites us into a rare intimacy through his talent and technique, which made him a particularly appreciated and sought-after artist. For him, women were an inexhaustible source of
