Description

This beautiful piece is a curiosity from across the Channel; this generous "giant" hunting cup, made of translucent veined horn in a beige tone, is a pure marvel of elegance and simplicity (quite a feat for such a large cup!). The hunting cup is rimmed with solid silver and adorned with a shield bearing a bust on a crown, English hallmarks, and the monogram TS. An exceptional decorative piece, crafted with meticulous care, it is as decorative as can be and is in perfect condition. The finish and polish demonstrate great care, making this a beautiful piece worthy of a "Cabinet of Curiosities." The plain, unadorned rims and the shield confirm its Art Deco character and its remarkably well-preserved prestige. A must-have for collectors of fine pieces.
