Description

Here is a very chic chandelier from the 1940s. Indeed, it features six lights with the original brass glass shades. In the center, there is a frosted glass plate with a floral design, two glass rods that sit in the middle of the chandelier, and two shells on each side. Please note that this chandelier is sold uncleaned, unrestored, and unwired, with several defects: one shell at one end needs reattaching and restoration, three shells under the lights need reattaching and restoration, there are micro-scratches on the glass, and some wear and tear on the green patina. The important thing is that the glass elements are not damaged. It has a significant weight and is typical of the 1940s. It would be perfect for an interior designer, a dealer, or a discerning collector. For condition details, please carefully examine the
