Height : 43cm

Description

An elegant table lamp in the style of a cabinet of curiosities, inspired by the scholarly and naturalist creations of the 19th century. It rests on a blackened wood base with a molded circular base, supporting a vertical structure adorned with two natural sea urchins mounted as decorative elements, set within a finely crafted brass mount. The whole evokes the scientific and poetic aesthetic of collectors' cabinets and curiosities. The Venetian-style screen shade, edged with braid, is based on an engraving attributed to François Boucher (18th-century style), depicting three cherubs playing, one of whom rides a dolphin. The finely detailed, sepia-toned decoration diffuses a warm light and highlights the delicacy of the Rococo scene. ? Electrification compliant with current standards, LED lighting. ?
