

Georgian Staffordshire Jug With Hand Painted Oriental Motifs, Late 18th Century

600 EUR

Signature : Staffordshire

Period : 18th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Ceramic

Length : 21 cm

Width : 16 cm

Height : 21.5 cm

Description

This Staffordshire jug dates from the late 18th century and is made in a sharply faceted hexagonal shape, typical of Georgian-period English ceramics. The overall finish reflects careful workshop production intended for decorative and domestic use.

The surface is decorated with a hand-painted oriental scene showing figures in an imagined Eastern setting, accompanied by floral sprays in the "Indische Blumen" manner. Such decoration illustrates the period's fascination with exotic imagery before transfer printing became standard. The base carries an incised technological mark, consistent with common English ceramic practices of the time.

An appealing and collectible piece combining early form and expressive hand painting.

Dealer

Gillers Antiques

Specialists in 19th-century European silverware, porcelain and décor

Mobile : +44 7738009924

Buntingford SG9 0PY

Dimensions: height 21.5 cm; width 21 cm; depth 16 cm.

Weight: 656 g.

Condition: a small chip to the spout, a chip to the footrim, and a fine hairline crack at the base of the handle. In all other respects, in very good antique condition, with the painted decoration particularly well preserved.

Please study the accompanying photographs carefully as they form an integral part of this description. If you have any questions, we will be happy to answer them. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance. It is important to note that shipping costs include labour, packaging and postage.