Description

A minimalist French mid-century table lamp, with clean, polished, chromed lines, dating from the 1970s, in the style of François Monnet. This table lamp, or floor lamp, is composed of curved, chromed steel blades with a slim central base on a square plinth, fitted with three E27 bulbs. The object impresses with its clean, polished lines and geometric appearance. The light source emerges from the curved rectangular blades like a flower. The central base has a small stepped end and tapers towards the bottom. The base, with its black lacquered central support, gives this chic lamp not only great stability but also a striking presence (19 x 19 x 3.5 cm). There are no dents on the blades, just a few fine scratches on the base and on one blade.
