Description

Uchiwa lamps were handcrafted from bamboo, wicker, and Japanese rice paper. Ingo Maurer's interest in the paper used for lampshades stemmed from his passion for Japan. From 1973 to 1975, he created various lamps using traditional Japanese fans. Uchiwa lamps, handcrafted from Japanese bamboo and rice paper, are highly sought after today. The bases are removable, allowing the lamps to be used as table lamps or wall sconces. Once lit, the lamps emit a warm and pleasant light. The lamps will be delivered with plugs suitable for the destination country. Simply plug them in.
