Description

Elegant French display cabinet of fine quality, made during the Napoleon III period (second half of the 19th century), in refined Louis XVI style, featuring well-balanced proportions and meticulous craftsmanship. The cabinet is constructed in solid oak, entirely veneered in walnut, with carefully selected and book-matched grain, particularly visible on the side panels. The structure is enriched with fine double string inlays in maple and ebony, precisely executed. The front features two glazed doors, making the piece suitable as a display cabinet, china cabinet or small bookcase, offering good storage and display capacity. The interior retains wooden shelves consistent with the period. The top is in grey veined marble, likely Bardiglio, in overall good condition, with only minor edge chips, consistent
