Description

This magnificent covered vase in green jade is a masterpiece of East Asian craftsmanship. Its intricate structure rests on a carved base depicting two carp leaping from the waves, symbolizing perseverance and success. The body of the vase, adorned with archaic taotie mask motifs, is flanked by openwork handles in the form of protective dragons with movable rings, a technical feat of relief carving. The stone, with its moss-green hues and natural veining, captures the light with a soft grace. Presented on its finely crafted precious wood base, this piece embodies the perfect harmony between nature and artistic mastery.
