Description

Lively Country Scene - European School, late 18th century - a pastoral scene depicting a group of figures in period dress gathered around barrels in a wooded landscape, with rural architecture and a river horizon in the background. The balanced and narrative composition is distinguished by a beautiful depth of field and a peaceful atmosphere typical of European genre painting. The work is characterized by a soft and nuanced palette, a delicate treatment of foliage, and attention to the figures' attitudes and expressions, lending the whole a great vivacity. The bright, slightly cloudy sky adds an elegant touch to the scene. Presented in a later giltwood frame with a molded profile, which perfectly complements the composition. The frame has a consistent antique patina, with some visible wear
