Description

CHINA: Qing Dynasty bracelet in chased silver, inlaid with coral beads and adorned with two partially enameled dragons facing each other and playing with a silver bead. 19th century, possibly earlier (the Qing Dynasty lasted from 1644 to 1911). See a similar bracelet on the website www.guweimuseum.com (virtually identical and of the same shape). Height 65 mm x 70 mm at its widest point, weight 40 g. Same provenance as the Egyptian double amulet representing the god Bes. (Collection of unusual objects belonging to a doctor) which is no longer available in my shop but still visible (sold).
