Description

An elegant German porcelain clock set, dating from around 1900, comprising a central clock and its two original matching candelabra. Finely crafted, it features decorative details, floral motifs, and a sculptural form typical of late 19th-century European porcelain. The clock shows some old restorations and minor chips (see photos), but remains a charming and highly decorative set, ideal for a mantelpiece or console table. Dimensions: Clock: 50 x 30 x 30 cm; Candelabra (each): 44 x 31 x 12 cm. Condition: Fair condition for an antique item. The clock shows visible restorations and minor chips, normal for its age. Please refer to the photos for a full assessment.
