Description

Refined 18th-century cantagloria, made of finely carved wood and gilded with mecca, featuring a richly decorated shaped frame adorned with scrolls, volutes and cartouches in late Baroque taste. The structure displays an elegant contoured outline, typical of Italian production of the 18th century, with deeply carved and well-defined details that give movement and strong sculptural quality to the whole. The original mecca gilding, still well preserved, shows a warm aged patina enhancing the reliefs and attesting to the authenticity of the piece. Mirror harmoniously set within the frame. The object stands out for its decorative appeal and works equally well as an ornamental piece or as a refined interior accent. Period: 18th century Material: carved wood with mecca gilding Origin: Italy Dimensions:
