Description

Oil on canvas depicting a wooded landscape bathed in warm autumnal light. The work is signed by the Italian artist Luigi Cima and dated 1908, attesting to a period of artistic maturity for the painter. The composition is distinguished by a rich palette of yellows, ochres, and greens, applied in vibrant brushstrokes, conveying a Post-Impressionist sensibility. The treatment of the paint, dense and textured, highlights the vegetation and lends the scene a peaceful and luminous atmosphere. Luigi Cima (1860-1944), an Italian painter renowned for his landscapes and nature scenes, belongs to the naturalist tradition of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, with a particular attention to the effects of light and the seasons.
