Description

With its remarkable dimensions and rich decoration, this piece of furniture stands out as a true statement piece. Entirely painted using the traditional faux-marble technique, it features meticulous decorative work on all its surfaces, enhanced by sculpted and gilded elements that lend it a strong visual presence. The upper section, open and punctuated by uprights adorned with gilded scrolls, is designed to showcase decorative objects. The lower section, closed by two painted doors, is decorated with a large central panel featuring an ornamental motif, contributing to the overall balance and harmony. Through its size, decoration, and architectural character, this piece asserts itself first and foremost as a prominent decorative element, capable of structuring an interior and defining its
