Description

A beautiful little bathroom set, comprising a box, a trinket tray, and a perfume bottle, vintage 1950s-60s, Art Deco style, made of molded Murano glass, opaque black, speckled with red and aventurine (copper flakes). By Vincenzo Nason, unsigned. The trinket tray is oval with a high rim, 22cm long, 7cm wide, and 3.5cm high. The bottle is 11cm in diameter, 7.5-8cm high without the stopper, 11cm high with the stopper. The box is 10.9cm in diameter, 10cm high with the lid, and 4cm high without the lid. In very good overall condition, with minor, discreet signs of wear. The trinket tray has a few tiny chips on the lower outer rim, and one slightly larger chip at the bottom end; these are very discreet. The bottle has a small broken bubble and very minor scratches; the metal stopper, probably brass, is tarnished and shows signs of wear. There is no sprayer or pump. Box has a small chip at the tip of the lid, several chips under the rim of the lid (6 in total), some more significant than others: 3 slightly visible from the outside, one larger chip on the inner rim (not noticeable and not bothersome), and one slightly visible chip on the base of the foot. The entire box weighs approximately 1.5 kg.
