Description

This pair of chairs dates from the 1960s. The curved shape is present on the seat and even more pronounced on the backrest. They have a lovely, airy design on black tubular legs. Unrestored and untouched, you will notice a small chip at the end of one leg, some scuffs and scratches, and stains. One of the seats is loose and needs to be reattached. We should point out that one chair has a backrest that curves more towards the seat than the other; this could be straightened or left as is. They are still usable as is; you must accept the imperfections due to their age and the fact that they are not restored. We do not ship these fragile items by mail, but we work with carriers; please contact us for a quote. They are perfect for discerning individuals, dealers, or collectors. We have performed a basic cleaning. Sold as is.
