Description

Abstract painting "Children's Room" - René Artozoul, August 1978 ???? Original work by René Artozoul, entitled "Children's Room," created and dated August 1978, signed on the back. A sensitive and free painting, where abstraction evokes the world of childhood, between spontaneity, play, and imagination. ? The composition blends sketched forms, black lines, punctuation, and flat areas of color in a vibrant and joyful palette: blues, reds, yellows, and greens interact in an almost playful movement. The title illuminates the interpretation of the work, suggesting an intimate universe made of traces, memories, and childlike perceptions. ???? The brushstroke is intentionally instinctive and expressive, close to intuitive abstraction, revealing a fresh and poetic energy.
