Enhance your collection with an authentic example of great 17th-century Emilian painting through this exceptional oil on canvas depicting Saint Sebastian, attributable to a follower of the Carracci family. A work of outstanding quality, painted in its original period, combining profound spirituality with refined artistic mastery. Saint Sebastian is portrayed during his martyrdom, leaning against a tree trunk, his body pierced by three clearly visible arrows, his face lifted upward in an expression of ecstasy and unwavering faith. The vivid red drapery, luminous and dynamic, is a clear hallmark of the Emilian school, lending movement and dramatic intensity to the composition. The anatomical rendering, balanced lighting, and emotional depth directly recall the Carracci tradition. The painting
