

Antique Iron Mechanical Toy From The 1920s, Happy Jack & Happy James

750 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Description

Antique iron mechanical toy from the 1920s known as 'Happy Jack & Happy James' produced in Germany probably by Wilhem Krauss. The object is a hand-cranked automaton depicting hand-painted male iron figures (Jack and James) with jointed legs and hips that perform a dance movement when the movement has begun. The toy is complete with its original case in the shape of a small pressed cardboard theater with wood-effect veins and rests on an ebonized wooden base. There is a glass in the front and a crank on the side to operate the movement. The toy can also be connected to a steam engine. Dimensions: 16x10 H.16CM Collectible item in working order and in good condition. Tracked shipment included by DHL/UPS courier. SHIPMENTS
