Description

This extraordinary 18th-century table lamp is an authentic masterpiece of decorative art, combining elegance, symbolism, and outstanding craftsmanship. From the very first glance, it impresses with its commanding presence and the richness of its details, making it a prestigious focal point in any interior.The base is finely carved in wood and painted to imitate marble, featuring realistic veining and refined gilded details that enhance its three-dimensional quality. At the center emerges a delicate cherub's head, a typical 18th-century iconography symbolizing purity and protection, sculpted with remarkable skill and artistic sensitivity. This element gives the lamp significant historical and decorative value.The lampshade, also original to the 18th century, is made of black and gold silk and
