

Gerrit Bramer Museum Clock, Amsterdam, 17th/18th Century, Circa 1740

4 200 EUR

Signature : Gerrit Bramer, Amsterdam

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Width : 55

Height : 250

Depth : 33

Description

Gerrit Bramer Museum Clock, Amsterdam, 17th/18th century, circa 1740. Parlor clock. The case has a typical shape, with a top decorated with pinnacles. Walnut veneer on an oak base. The cover has a leaf-shaped clasp. The sides of the case are beveled. The case flap has a lens. Silvered brass dial. Signed: GERRIT BRAMER. Born in Rokin, Amsterdam, near Vijgendam. 1684-1770. The matte central clock has an additional seconds hand and an alarm dial with a date window, day sector, annular winding holes, and perforated blued steel hands. Eight-day movement with four pilasters and anchor escapement. Dutch chime and alarm on two bells, a pendulum, and two weights. Moon phases, calendar mechanism, seasonal spandrels. Material: walnut. Dimensions: height 250 cm,

Dealer

Antiques and Art-Lion

Sale of antiques, furniture, clocks, paintings

Mobile : +48608466740

12 Marca 211

Wejherowo 84-200

width 55 cm, depth 33 cm. Origin: Amsterdam.

An exceptionally impressive example of luxury horology. Magnificent and impressive! Murbo Baroque clock, circa 1740, superb!