Description

This solid wood animal sculpture captures the movement of a walking bear with great expressive power. Created using the direct carving technique (circa 1950-1970), it features highly graphic gouge work reminiscent of the style of objects made by the Ainu people of Northern Japan and Hokkaido. Its raw aesthetic and stylized volumes make it a resolutely modern and decorative piece of organic design. This charming bear has a superb original dark patina that highlights each chisel stroke. In good condition despite some minor imperfections, it will bring an authentic and warm presence should you choose to adopt it. Period: Circa 1950-1970
