Description

A simple and elegant late 18th-century Louis XVI/Directoire style bedside table in Cuban mahogany with elegantly chamfered tapered legs adorned with bronze sabots, a beautiful molded top and stretcher, a drawer at the top and a trapdoor below, plus a shelf in the lower section. The elegant front features frames and ornaments of square, brightly gilded, chased panels, a bronze hand-lock handle on a parchment (typical of this period), a simple panel, a small turned bronze drawer knob, and attractive feet. The polished yellow copper molding frames the drawer and drop-front, and the tops of the legs are adorned with bronze capitals. The oak insets ensure its internal use. A quality Parisian piece that can serve as an end table as well as its primary purpose as a bedside table. Elegant and refined,
