Description

Swedish sofa designed by Axel Larsson for Bodafors, 1940s. The term "Swedish Modern" quickly became established as a reinterpretation of the modern style of the 1940s, where functionalism was replaced by a freer, more artistic ideal. Swedish Modern furniture is popular because it responds both to our penchant for clean, uncluttered spaces and our desire to live in welcoming, comfortable environments. Reupholstered in white boucle by our workshop.
