Description

Superb Empire period mahogany bedside table from the early 19th century. This large model is quite rare, measuring 82cm high and 42cm in diameter (they are often 74cm high). Its size makes it particularly appealing as it can serve as a bedside table, column, or side table. It is cylindrical in shape and rests on a molded plinth. A semicircular door opens at the front to reveal two shelves. It is topped with a gray marble. The table has a superb patina and is in magnificent condition.
