Description

An antique 18-karat rose gold ring, adorned with a delicate halo of old-cut diamonds set in silver according to 18th-century jewelry tradition. The central motif features a geometric rose-cut diamond, subtly enhanced by a pavé of smaller rose-cut diamonds arranged on either side in a harmonious and balanced composition. The finely executed grain setting accentuates the antique and authentic character of the piece. The contrast between the yellow gold of the band and the silver of the setting highlights the soft, muted brilliance of the diamonds, typical of antique jewelry illuminated by candlelight. The openwork back provides lightness and comfort on the wrist. A ring of character, with timeless charm, ideal for lovers of antique jewelry and unique pieces steeped in history.
