Description

A very fine polished solid brass marine padlock, dating from the 19th century. This "D-shaped" or swivel shackle model is characteristic of marine equipment for its robustness and resistance to salt corrosion. It consists of a straight crossbar and a movable curved shackle mounted on a sturdy pivot. It locks via a lateral pivot with its original key. In excellent overall condition with a lovely patina that testifies to its history. o Shipping: Free for France and Corsica o Careful packaging - Tracked letter shipping within 24/48 hours o Payments: Credit cards, bank transfers, or PayPal
