Description

Immerse yourself in the timeless elegance of a work that masterfully blends classicism with 20th-century skill. The « 1950 Oil on Cardboard, Young Bacchus » is a sublime testament to the artistic sensitivity of Master Giovagnoli, a renowned figure from the Republic of San Marino. In this painting, executed with the sophisticated "grisaille" technique, the artist moves away from a full color palette to focus on the power of monochrome grey. The result is a work of extraordinary plastic strength: through delicate shading and the play of light, the Master succeeds in expressing all the vibrant sensuality of the young god. Bacchus's face and posture emerge from the cardboard with an almost sculptural realism, capturing the viewer with a magnetic and timeless gaze. Created in the first
