Description

Pair of armchairs with curved armrests - Restoration Period. A beautiful pair of armchairs from the Restoration period, characteristic of early 19th-century French furniture. They feature elegant curved armrests with clean, balanced lines, typical of this transitional period between Empire and Classicism. The seats rest on saber legs, lending visual lightness and stability to the whole. The upholstery in a scale-patterned fabric adds a refined decorative touch while respecting the spirit of the period. The set is distinguished by the harmony of proportions and the quality of craftsmanship, making these armchairs as decorative as they are functional. Period: Restoration. Type: Armchairs with curved armrests. Base: Saber legs. Upholstery: Scale-patterned fabric. Composition: Pair.
