Description

Large statue of the Virgin and Child, crowned (120 cm) - 19th century - France. An imposing devotional statue depicting the crowned Virgin Mary holding the Infant Jesus, a late 19th-century work typical of French and Belgian religious art intended for churches and chapels. Description: The Virgin is shown standing, holding a scepter, a symbol of her heavenly kingship. The Infant Jesus, also crowned, holds the orb surmounted by a cross, emblem of Christ the King and his sovereignty over the world. The iconography clearly belongs to the post-Tridentine Marian monarchical tradition. The faces and hands are made of polychrome wood with gentle and serene expressions. The body consists of a frame draped in antique liturgical textiles. The ensemble is richly adorned with its original clothing: o Ivory
