Description

This handwoven rug from southwestern Persia is a flat-weave variation of the traditional gabbeh. Made using the kilim technique, it is entirely flat-woven, without a wool pile, giving it lightness, suppleness, and exquisite craftsmanship. Multicolored traditional motifs depicting stylized animals and miniature figures unfold against a luminous golden-yellow background, evoking scenes of daily life and the pastoral imagination of nomadic tribes. The vibrant and balanced color palette enlivens the rug's surface while preserving the authenticity and spontaneity inherent in nomadic textile art. Both decorative and narrative, this gabbeh kilim brings warmth, originality, and character to any interior, from the most contemporary to the most traditional. Size : 200 x 135 cm Condition :
