

Pair Of Large Blown Glass Globe Domes On Bases, Charles X Period

700 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Rosewood

Diameter : 19 cm

Height : 45 cm

Description

An exceptional pair of large blown glass globes/domes on circular rosewood bases, dating from the Charles X period (19th century). The original rosewood bases are adorned with lemonwood marquetry inlay. The entire set is entirely original, including the glass, the bases, and the felt supports holding the glass bases, all in superb condition. Note that a small section of the marquetry on one base has very slight separation (see photo). These globes/domes, originally used to hold bridal clothing or headdresses, can also display taxidermied specimens, such as rare island birds or other small animals. It was also not uncommon for them to be used by watchmakers to house small skeleton clocks or other small pendulums. These are intended for true enthusiasts who understand that
