Description

A prestigious piece with a generously proportioned body, adorned with a sumptuous decoration of foliate scrolls and stylized volutes in gilded relief, set against a deep cobalt blue background. The composition, inspired by the Neo-Rococo style, evokes the most ambitious decorative creations of the Lunéville factory during the Belle Époque. The abundant and finely executed gilding elegantly highlights the volumes and lends the piece a remarkable decorative presence. This type of cachepot, intended for bourgeois interiors and formal settings, illustrates the high level of craftsmanship of Lunéville during this period. A rare object due to its size, ornamental richness, and excellent visual impact. In very good overall condition, with slight wear consistent with age. A choice piece for collectors
