Description

A ring signed by the jeweler Poiray, in 18k yellow gold (750/°°, eagle's head hallmark), subtly adorned in its center with a square cushion-cut iolite. This stone displays a subtle, deep blue color with a hint of violet. Set in a bezel setting, it integrates perfectly into its mount. The ring's appeal lies in its beautifully rounded, spherical band in luminous yellow gold. This setting is meticulously crafted: its smooth shape is particularly pleasing to the touch and designed to be ergonomic despite its generous size. A hidden detail reveals the quality of its design: inside the band, an openwork socket, bearing the jeweler's "P," serves several functions. First and foremost, it fills the void created by the spherical shape. The ingenuity of its design is revealed by the "spring" effect of this setting: the most sophisticated jewelry technique in terms of comfort, it is enveloping, guaranteeing flexibility around the finger and a perfect fit, preventing the ring from rotating. The result of this meticulous design is a ring that is particularly comfortable to wear, with a timeless volume and design. The piece bears the jeweler's signature on the outside of its shank and a number on the inside.

Estimated iolite weight: approximately 1.30 ct.

Gross weight: 25.02 g. Ring size: 53 - no resizing possible (current diameter 1.60 cm / US size 6.5).

Condition: imperceptible micro-scratches on the ring shank, natural inclusions and characteristic areas in the iolite, invisible when worn. We have preserved its patina, but the ring can be repolished by our workshop upon request.
