Description

This refined set of eight Neapolitan Louis XVI chairs dates back to the late 18th century. The elegant backrests feature the characteristic inverted "Y" shape, typical of Neapolitan production of the period, finely carved and decorated. The wooden frame is embellished with rich silver gilding, a highly prized decorative technique that gives the surface a soft, iridescent sheen, particularly appreciated in the aristocratic furnishings of the Kingdom of Naples. The sculpted edges, turned legs, and carved scrolls testify to the high quality of the workmanship. The seats, upholstered in light-colored fabric, maintain a sober elegance that harmoniously complements the rich decoration of the frame. A coherent and rare ensemble, ideal for enhancing a dining room or
