600 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Silk

Length : 37

Width : 32,5

Description

An elegant pair of traditional Chinese paintings, executed in ink and colors on silk, depicting misty mountain landscapes in the grand tradition of Shan Shui (?? - "mountains and waters"). Conceived as pendants, the two compositions harmoniously complement each other: rugged reliefs, stylized pines, an isolated pavilion, and blankets of mist create a poetic and meditative atmosphere, characteristic of Chinese literati painting. Each work is accompanied by original calligraphy and the artist's red seals, attesting to an authentic work executed according to the classical codes of Chinese art. The inscriptions can be translated as: "Blue Mountains, White Clouds" and "The Spirit of the Mountain, Clouds, and Moon." These intentionally complementary titles reinforce the visual and spiritual dialogue
