Description

Antique Painted Drum - Europe, 19th Century. Cylindrical drum made of painted wood, hooped and fitted with its original ropes, adorned with a rich polychrome decoration. The body features geometric friezes. The piece demonstrates meticulous craftsmanship, both in its construction and the execution of the painting, and evokes the parade or militia instruments used in civil or military ceremonies during the 19th century. The patina, wear, and slight alterations are consistent with the object's age and contribute to its authenticity. A rare object due to the presence of its complete figurative decoration, this drum is a choice piece for enthusiasts of antique instruments, folk art, or militaria, as well as for collectors who appreciate objects imbued with memory and visual presence.
