Description

Modernist solid oak armchair, produced and stamped by the Dutch manufacturer Meubelabriek L.O.V., a representative figure of Dutch design from the 1950s.

This model perfectly reflects the principles of Northern European modernism, with sober architectural lines, balanced proportions and a clearly legible structure. The intentionally pared-down design highlights the quality of the oak and the precision of the craftsmanship.

The wood retains a fine original patina, warm and even, bearing witness to the chair's age without detracting from its presence or solidity. The armchair is in very good overall condition, stable and ready for use.

Thanks to its timeless aesthetic, it integrates equally well into mid-century modern,
