Description

From grains of rice to red beans, an agricultural engineering school, where they were waiting, made excellent use of these bottles. Intended for displaying collections, these uniquely shaped glass containers date from the 19th century and allowed for the preservation of collections...

Okay, you can remove the seeds and replace them with all your own personal favorites. They close easily with a cork. The three largest bottles are 19 cm high and 8 cm in diameter, while the eight smaller ones are 13 cm high and 6 cm in diameter. The layering of labels, sometimes, attests to the many uses these elegant, though uncommon, bottles have served.
