Description

A beautiful Napoleon III clock, dating from the late 19th century. Made of gilt bronze, it features fine openwork with a rich decoration of foliate scrolls and mascarons. The quadrangular body rests on a wide, shaped base with foliate feet, surmounted by an elegant covered vase with scrolled handles. The circular dial displays Roman numerals in enamel cartouches, and the clock has a key-wound mechanical movement that strikes the hours and half-hours. The mechanism needs servicing, but the key is included. The clock is of high quality, with very detailed decoration and a uniform antique patina. Delivery within Metropolitan France is EUR60.
