Description

Pair of Cab 413 armchairs by Mario Bellini, Cassina edition, in black leather. From the 1990s. An iconic seat by Mario Bellini, the Cab413 is the first chair in the world characterized by a self-supporting leather structure inspired by the relationship between the human skeleton and skin. Comfortable and inviting, it embodies artisanal excellence and attention to detail. The upholstery consists of 22 pieces of leather, each cut and worked individually by hand, then sewn into a single piece which is hand-fitted to the steel frame and closed with zippers like a bespoke suit.
