Description

This petite and elegant gilded brass and glass bar cart, dates from the mid-20th century, circa 1940-1960, and is a refined example of classical inspiration combined with practical modern design. Although inspired by the Louis XVI and neoclassical style, with its fluted legs, balanced proportions, and pierced brass galleries, this is a piece of style rather than period. The cart features two oval glass shelves framed by finely pierced brass galleries, offering both visual lightness and functional security. The upper tray is fitted with ornate scrolling handles decorated with floral motifs, allowing for easy movement while enhancing the overall decorative appeal. The lower shelf incorporates integrated circular bottle holders, designed to accommodate bottles or decanters, a detail typical of high-quality bar carts.
