Description

An elegant portrait of a young man, dressed in a fashionable late 18th-century Louis XVI style suit, the painting is on its original canvas with some wear and original varnish (it can be restored in our workshop). This handsome portrait is presented in its original carved and gilded Louis XVI style wooden frame, still in its gilt, and stamped with the mark of Antoine Levert, who became a master in Paris in 1774. The whole piece is most striking.
