Description

Original plastic Trolley coffee table produced by Kastilia, a historic Italian company active in the technical furniture sector only in the 1970s, now rediscovered in the modern antiques scene for its high-quality construction and essential, functional design language. The table features a central stem base that opens into four inclined spokes equipped with wheels, a solution that combines structural stability and operational mobility, typical of high-end professional furniture. The rectangular top with rounded corners, finished in an elegant glossy dark shade, creates a contrast with the base, lending the overall effect a clean, almost futuristic aesthetic, perfectly in line with 1970s Italian modernist design. The minimalist yet bold silhouette makes the piece extremely versatile. Period: 1970s Condition:
