Description

Exquisite Danish bookcase in teak and teak veneer, dating from the 1950s/60s. Designed by Danish designer Børge Mørgensen and distributed by Soblor Mobler. Børge Mørgensen was a Danish designer born in 1914 in Aalborg, Denmark. He studied furniture design in Copenhagen. In the 1940s, he became head of design at the Danish Consumer Cooperative Society (FDB). In the 1950s, he opened his own design studio and subsequently became one of the designers who popularized the concept of modern Danish design. His work is clean and extremely functional. He strives to create practical, affordable designs in his preferred material: wood. His clients include Fredericia Stolefabrik, Fritz Hansen, Søborg Møbelfabrik, and many others. In 1950, he won the Eckersberg Medal,
